His Excellency John Pope Hennessy C. will succeed Mr Weld as Governor of Tasmania and that Mr Hennessy's promotion will be accompanied by knightbood." It is not at all unlikely, and we sincerely hope it is true. The salary Tasmania is something more than half are natives on the Legislative Council in the salary attached to the post Governor here, but the real value of the position is often not to be gauged by the mere amount drawn. In Tasmania the purchasing power of a shilling, with the Governor as with everybody else, approaches to that of a dollar here. The salary, as we stated yesterday, is £3,500; no allowances. ## TRAGICAL MURDER AND SUICIDE IN MACAO.

A TERRIDLE tragedy occurred last night at Macao, the news of which has caused the greatest consternation amongst the Portuguese community. Col. Mesquite, the hero of Passaleão, in a state of insanity, chot his wife and second daughter dead, and also shot his eldest son and eldest daughter several times and so seriously that they now lie in the most critical condition in the hospital. The body of his wife was found lying near the bed, a pillow in her hand as if to defend herself. There were two wounds in her body. Their eldest daughter had several wounds in the head and is now in critical state. The other daughter was found deed in a corner of the room near the cupboard with a pistol shot in her head. The eldest son has three shots in the body and lies in a precarious state in hospital. The youngest son escaped by jumping from the window. The body of the Colonel bimself was found in a well near his house. honour. Col. A dreadful tragedy took place at Macao order !between one or two o'clock this morning. Colonel Mesquits, a retired officer, and well known for his gallant deed in taking the Fort of Passaleso in 1849, killed his wife and his youngest daughter and left his eldest son and daughter very badly wounds ed. He only spared his younger son, and then himself put an end to his existence by drowning himself in a well, where his body threw a distance of 28 ft. 6 inches, which as often put on a spurt and draw away was found early this morning. It is said a letter exists in which he accounts for the second. dreadful work he has done.

YAU-MAH-TEE. To the Editor of the "CHINA MAIL." 19th March.

SIR,-Passing through Yau-mah-tee a few days ago I was astonished to find a serious change had taken place in the welfare of the village since visiting it last year. large number of the houses are untenanted. and the whole place seems so wanting in that life and activity that marked it before. It occurred to me that perhaps the Harbour Office might have driven the boating population away by veratious regulations. This I found was not the cause, as, on making quite independent enquirles, I was surprised to find the shopkeepers attribute, without the least hesitation, the decay of this former busy scene entirely to the obstructions the Government have raised squinst the Chinese establishing manufactories &c. I learnt that some months ago a Canton Sugar manufacturer came down and tried to get some land, but after months of delay he returned to Canton disgusted with the the authorities of Hongkong.

I also learnt that the Surveyor-General's Department had made handsome promises to a Soy manufacturer, and on the strength of these Government promises he brough his plant from Canton to establish himself but now, after many months of delay and petitioning, nothing but difficulties, objecthe Government. Offers have been made native place, but lits Lordship thought he to morrow. Freights to Singapore are last month only his partners met to dis- not remained there. cuss the effers. Handsome promises, if not backed up, will not make trade or keep it when it is drawn to a certain and.

The preserve trade in Canton is enormous, and with the very exceptional facilities offered in Hongkong for shipping, and freedom from squeezes, there is no reason why this trade should not largely be done in Hongkong. Once let it be seen that the Governmen are prepared to grant land on easy terms, and in convenient places in Yau-mah-tee and Kowloon, and within twelve months remain behind, the method of transport via America. The British Consul has works would spring up that would surprise ation, and the route, mingled with the not yet arrived, and the Portuguese and the community. None know better the advantages of being under British rule than the Chinese for the purposes of trade, despite the so-called Blockade. It has occurred to me that far too much responsibilities of his department could be the minds of the younger and more lessened. I think with satisfaction to him- thoughtless members of the Court, while self, and benefit to the Colony. If, for example, all works that were to be undertaken should be submitted to a " Board of Works" (half official, half non-officials) -their meetings being open to the press, and the light of public opinion thrown upon the various underklogs brought forward-public and private matters that regulred official sanction could be most usefully discussed and it could be decided by vo e what rotation public improvements should take. The public money is very largely used by this department, more so than any other, and I think, with the control I have suggested, better results would be obtained and perhaps at a less cost to the colony and with acceleration in their completion. Every few months the community have extensive schemes brought forward, some of which would have been at once sanctioned if only the requirements of the public were consulted. In the past, pet ideas have had their full share of public money; but now 'tis time for such improvements as a New Central Market, were undertaken. The present one is quite enough to turn anything putrid, whatever may be its state

PUBLIC WELFARE. We have reason to believe that one of the questions above referred to has been so Kowlong at present. The main difficulty, so for as we can learn, which stood in the way was the high value not unnaturally placed on the land at Yau-mah-tee by the Government. It is clearly the duty of a Government to encourage trading indus-

> DEATH OF GEO. W. HADEN, SHANGHAI.

The staff this paper has sustained a severe loss in the death of Mr Geo. W. Haden, which occurred last night after a lingering illness. Mr Haden had been connected with the North-China Daily News for six years, first as sub-editor and lately as editor. A man of indefatigable working power and keen conscientiousness, his death was in great measure due to neglect of those means of health restoration which he felt convinced he could not seek without detriment to the interests with which he was charged .- N.
